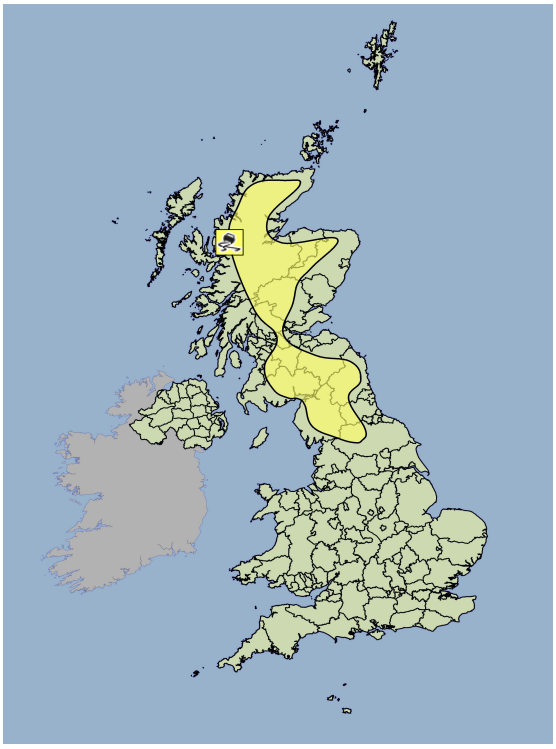
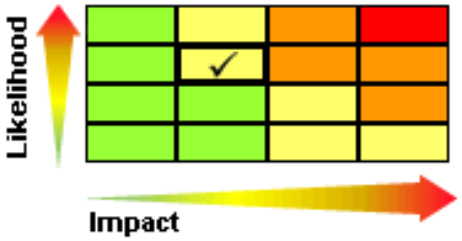
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Showers of rain and sleet, with some falling as snow over higher routes, will continue to wet surfaces during Saturday night and early Sunday morning. Clear spells between showers are then expected to lead to a frost and icy patches forming locally. The showers are expected to fall as snow over the highest routes which could bring temporary accumulations of 1 to 4cm, particularly for northern parts in the central and northern Highlands.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 21:00 on Sat, 22nd Mar 2014 until 09:00 on Sun, 23rd Mar 2014

Icy patches are expected to develop overnight where wet surfaces, the result of continuing wintry showers, freeze under clear skies.

The public should be aware of possible disruption to travel due to icy surfaces on Saturday night and early Sunday morning.
